MANY OF US CARRY VIVID CHILDHOOD MEMORIES of the big liturgies of Holy Week and Easter. In my own case, I often remember the long passion narrative that is read in parts on Palm Sunday and Good Friday. Missals in the pews divided the Gospel passage into four parts: narrator; Jesus; voice; and crowd. I remember even as a child waiting with anticipation to participate, not understanding more than that we were reenacting some sort of drama. The crowd's line, "Crucify him! Crucify him!" left me with the impression that somehow the good people of my parish community were implicated in the death of Jesus. That was a lot to process as a child and it still perplexes me today. This Sunday's readings balance that perspective with Jesus' own understanding of his fundamental choice to "lay down his life" (Jn 10:11). This Sunday's reading continues the week-by-week Easter meditation that helps us gradually recognize the risen Christ in our daily lives. Peter's speeches in Acts remind us that sin is part of the human condition. The Gospel, however, reminds us that although Jesus dies because of sin, he blames no one for his own death. His emphasis is focused on the mission given to him from the Father, a mission that required his total life. May we embrace this same mission encouraged by Jesus' model of courageous discipleship, one that Pope Francis repeatedly articulates. – Fr. Victor Cancino, SJ

I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. (Jn 10:11)

LITURGICAL DAY

Fourth Sunday of Easter (B)

READINGS

Acts 4:8-12, Ps 118, 1 Jn 3:1-2, Jn 10:11-18

PRAYER

Who is a model disciple today that influences your journey of faith?

Where are you being called to lean into a courageous discipleship?

Are you able to lay down your life for others, following the model shepherd?

SAINT IGNATIUS

Date: April 24th Time: 6:00PM Location: St. Ignatius Social Hall

NOTICE We invite you to listen to a podcast released last evening on the topic of Transubstantiation and the Eucharist. We were delighted that Fr. Ed Hislop led the discussion with Fr. Hightower and our host Nicholas Brouillard! 'There are many mysteries of the Catholic faith that are unknown or misunderstood. Transubstantiation is one of those mysteries. This episode will change the way that you understand and experience the Eucharist. Fr. Ed Hislop and Fr. Hightower join Nicholas to get to the real core of Transubstantiation and the Eucharist.' Listen along on your favorite directory, on our YouTube channel or on our website sfxmissoula.org #voxsfx
